

What feelings are being expressed?

What might have made the people feel like this?

